Essentialism is the view that every entity has a set of attributes that are necessary to its identity and function. In early Western thought Plato's idealism held that all things have such an "essence" -- an "idea" or "form". In Categories, Aristotle similarly proposed that all objects have a substance that, as George Lakoff put it "make the thing what it is, and without which it would be not ...

This book worked great with my class. Very similar to the previous edition so if you need to save money, you could get the older one. It's always recommended that if you've been assigned problems to check out the edition on reserve in your college library just to make sure the numbering hasn't changed.
